

Many thanks for your decision to publish an article in the BACnet Europe Journal. Please note the following information to be sure that your efforts will be rewarded by your targeted readers.

The BACnet Europe Journal is published in German and English. German and English texts are usually composed in parallel on one page.

Disclaimer

The author bears responsibility for articles which identify anyone or anything by name. This also includes release for publication by the users and project partners mentioned. As publisher the BIG-EU requires that articles be approved for publication by all companies involved in the project. Any third party claims will be borne by the author.
